

DEPARTMENT OF BASIC MEDICAL SCIENCES SEMINAR SERIES

A weekly lecture series covering diverse topics in the biomedical sciences

Seminar Title: Regulation of Coronary Microcirculation in Cardiovascular Diseases

Thursday, September 26, 2024

12 p.m. - 1 p.m.

IN-PERSON: College of Medicine—Phoenix
Biomedical Sciences Partnership Building (BSPB)
E113 Classroom

475 N. 5th Street, Phoenix, AZ 85004

Liya Yin, MD, PhD

Professor of Internal Medicine

Translational Cardiovascular Research Center

University of Arizona College of Medicine – Phoenix

ZOOM LINK: <https://arizona.zoom.us/j/87963030831>

CME credit provided by the University of Arizona College of Medicine-Tucson

- 1. What is coronary microvascular dysfunction?*
- 2. What is INOCA (Ischemia with nonobstructive coronary arteries)?*
- 3. How do we promote coronary collateral growth to prevent myocardial ischemia injury?*

BMS Host:

Taben Hale, PhD

Contact for additional information:

Lisa Dunk

lisadunk@arizona.edu

(602) 827-2188

